Notes

"I've been in Tele Meadows and Bacon Rind the past few days. In both places I found supportable boot top powder skiing, as soon as you stepped out of your skis however you would punch down to the ground everytime. Today there was a thin sun crust on SE facing slopes but it skied pretty well. The shaded slopes were covered in 4mm surface hoar. We observed roller balls from the day before on steep west facing slopes. We got one whoomph in the sage flats at the bottom of Bacon Rind and two good ones in the upper meadows, above 8000'."
