

Yesterday morning (12/31/11) strong winds were blowing at the ridgetops in the northern Gallatin. With a foot of new snow to move, the winds up Hyalite easily blew it around at the higher elevations. Steady 30 mph with gusts to 60 mph were measured. Photo: B. VandenBos

Advisory Region
Northern Gallatin

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Sun Jan 1, 2012
Northern Gallatin, 2012-01-01