

This photo was pulled from Facebook. The picture is foreshortened as the avalanche ran a long distance. See the next photo "Crazy Mountains 2" for a different perspective. In the post he writes, "This was triggered in the Crazies from the bottom after I had rode across towards the bottom. I had already turned down the hill (just outside the picture to the right) before it slid so I was out of the runout zone." Photo: Anonymous
